

They need us.
We need you.

Great Ormond Street NHS
Hospital for Children
NHS Foundation Trust

Nurse recruitment open day

• Newly Qualified Nurse Band 5 • Experienced Band 5 and 6

THURSDAY 21 APRIL BETWEEN 10.00 – 14.30

The Lagoon, Great Ormond Street Hospital for Children, London, WC1N 3JH

Situation

At GOSH we are passionate about achieving our shared aim of delivering world-class care, putting the child first at all times. We are rightly proud of our reputation as a national and international centre of excellence and the staff that work here. We want to give you the opportunity to learn about our services and meet some of our staff and visit our hospital.

Background

GOSH hosts many clinical specialities, we care for children from across the UK and beyond, our nurses too come from far and wide. The care our children and young people need can be straight forward or highly complex, either way it provides a unique environment in which nurses are able to develop their practical skills and clinical experience.

Assessment

We have a number of band 5 and 6 nursing opportunities you may wish to consider, for example:

- International and Private Patient wards cover a mix of medical and surgical specialities.
- Intensive care, we have three regional units specialising in the care of neonates, paediatrics, and cardiac patients.

- Our extremely successful rotation programme will give you the chance to experience three separate specialities over 24 months. The next programme is due to start in September 2016.
- Our many other wards covering a range of surgical and medical specialities – renal, surgical, oncology to name a few.

We also have opportunities for adult nurses experienced in an acute setting such as oncology, neurosciences, theatres and ICU.

Whether you're due to qualify in September 2016, or already a Band 5 or Band 6 Nurse, we know that changing your job or embarking on your career can be daunting. We will support you all the way.

Recommendation

Come along to our open day on the 21 April and meet our clinical teams, visit our wards and learn how we can help you progress your nursing career at Great Ormond Street Hospital.
